Last week 2,500 seats were offered for ale on the old reservoir at $5 each. The saie on the old reservoir at $5 each. The last one was sold yesterday morning, and now owners of partially completed stands in the neighborhood ask $10 a seat.

Delinonico's former restaurant building on the corner of Twenty-sixth street, will be used as a combination shelter for visiting troops and a view point for the parade. On Saturday a corner room on the second floor rented for $300. Yesterday for a smaller less desirable room next to it, with only one window, $400 was demanded. The seats on the stand in front of the same building were said to be selling readily at $20 each.

Thirty applications for private stands have been granted by the Building Department. Their combined seating capacity is 24.121. To a Journal reporter yesterday Deputy Commissioner of Buildings John A. Dooner said: "Every care is being taken by this department to see that the stands being erected by private citizens will be safe. Twelve inspectors were detailed this morning, whose only duty will be the construction of stands. They are all experienced builders and capable of judging whether or not a stand is safe enough."

Still Another Change in Plans. No meeting of a Dewey committee I complete without some attempt to change complete without some attempt to change the programme for the occupation of the Admiral's time during his three days' triumph. It has been moved and seconded and entered upon the minutes in a series of meetings that he should spend Friday night at the Waldorf; that he should stay on board the Olympia; first he was to be brought to the City Hall in a carriage, and after the ceremonies he was to go to Carcanout by carriage and by rail, but the Reception Committee at its meeting yesterday changed the whole programme again. After listening to a half hours' address by Chief Devery, it was voted that after the fireworks exhibition on Friday night, the Olympia, with the Admiral on board, should drop down the river and anchor off the Battery. A carriage will take the Admiral from the Battery landing to City Hall Park on Saturday morning, and after the ceremonies there Admiral Dewey, Governors, invited guests and committee, will all co on board of a steamer at the foot of Warren street and steam to One Hundred will take them to Claremout.

"The effect of moving factories from Hawana to Tampa," he said, "if done with the idea of importing the Cuban leaf and making Hawana cigars in Tampa, would not be such as to commend it to financiers. Even if the cigars should be really as good as those now made in Hawana the product would not obtain the confidence of foreign markets, where it would certainly be said that the cigars contained a mixture of American robacco. If the cigars were sent back to Hawana and then reshipped as Hawana cigars all the profits as well as all the confidence would be destroyed.
